THE SCHOOL OF LAW of Southern Methodist University was established in February 1925. The School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is approved by the Section on Legal Education of the American Bar Association.

THE LEGAL CENTER

The School of Law is located on the northwest corner of the University campus, within the city limits of University Park, approximately five miles from the business center of Dallas. School of Law buildings (pictured elsewhere in this bulletin) include Storey Hall, Florence Hall, and Lawyers Inn. Construction of a new law library building with a capacity of 450,000 volumes began in 1968, with completion scheduled for summer 1970.

The Southwestern Legal Foundation, organized in 1947 as a Texas non-profit corporation for the purpose of supporting legal education, projects in legal research, the improvement of the administration of justice, and continuing legal education of practicing attorneys, has its offices in Storey Hall.

Lawyers Inn provides living quarters and dining facilities for seventy-five students and contains a lounge, recreation room, faculty dining room, and several guest rooms for visitors. Florence Hall, completely remodeled in 1968, contains the Law School classrooms, seminar rooms, and a courtroom. The main building, Storey Hall, houses the Law Library, administrative and faculty offices, the Southwestern Law Journal, the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, the Oil and Gas Reporter, a seminar room, a large auditorium, and a lounge. The buildings are of modified Georgian architecture, conforming to the style of all permanent buildings on the campus. The classrooms and courtroom are commodious and well appointed. The three large reading rooms in Storey Hall provide a place for study and research under excellent conditions.

The Law Library contains approximately 145,000 volumes carefully selected to provide for study and research as well as to avoid unnecessary duplication. It is equipped with a microcard reader, a photocopy machine, and other modern facilities. Accessions are made at the rate of approximately 7,000 volumes a year, with special attention being given to materials in the fields of Oil and Gas, Taxation, Insurance, International Law, Comparative Law, and Jurisprudence. Emphasis is also placed on Latin-American legal publications. Codes, periodicals, and outstanding treatises have been acquired from most of the Latin-American countries. There are also collections of legal literature of France, Germany, Italy, and Spain.

The Library contains all reported cases of the federal courts and all reported cases of the state courts as well as all English cases from the time of Henry VIII. There are also collections of the reported cases from the principal countries of the British Commonwealth, including Ireland, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Canada.

The Library has complete files of over 350 leading legal periodicals. It currently subscribes to 750 periodicals of which more than 100 are from foreign countries. The statutory collection includes the current statute law of the United States and of all of the states, and a selected list of United States Government documents, including congressional reports and hearings valuable for research in legislative intent. The rules, regulations, and decisions of the administrative agencies of the federal government are kept current. The Library has excellent collections of treatises, encyclopedias, digests, citators, and loose-leaf services which make it a valuable working laboratory for students. Several copies of all leading textbooks are available. There are many texts on the subjects of government, economics, international relations, and business in the collection.

Fondren Library, near the Legal Center, houses the general library of the University. Its facilities are available to law students.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The primary purpose of the School of Law is the preparation of the student for the practice of law. The curriculum combines training in the science and method of the law, knowledge of the body of the law, and practical experience in the handling of professional problems. It also explores the relationship and responsibility of the lawyer to other segments of society.

The theoretical aspects are imparted by the case and problem methods of instruction. The case method involves the thorough analysis of selected cases, statutes and other materials, and the discussion of legal principles deduced from them. Students are introduced to the materials they will use in the practice of law, and learn to make distinctions and to reason by analogy.

In the problem method, students read widely in texts, cases, statutes, rulings, and legal instruments. The information so acquired is organized and analyzed by the instructors in lectures and by the students in class discussions and solutions to assigned factual problems.

Students gain practical experience not only through the problem method of instruction, but also through such courses as Practice Court, Moot Court, and Legal Writing, and by work in the Legal Clinic, as student editors of the Southwestern Law Journal and the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, and as student assistant editors of the Oil and Gas Reporter.

Throughout the curriculum, every effort is made to keep the classes as small as possible and thereby give students the advantage of individual attention and close personal relations with their professors.

DISCIPLINE

To safeguard its ideals of scholarship, character, and proper personal conduct, the School of Law reserves, and each student as a condition of admission concedes to the School of Law, the right to require the withdrawal of any student at any time for any reason deemed by the faculty to be sufficient.

Dismissal from the school may be honorable, as in the case of a student dropped solely for poor scholarship, or dishonorable, as in the case of expulsion for violation of the examination rules or honor code or other serious breaches of discipline. Minor infractions of the rules of the School of Law will render the student liable to suspension from classes and cancellation of examinations or to other appropriate sanctions.

Students in the School of Law shall not, without the written consent of the Dean, either individually or collectively use the name of Southern Methodist University School of Law in any activity of any kind outside the regular work of the school. Violation of this rule is sufficient cause for dismissal.

**Honor System.* The School of Law is conducted on an Honor System. All phases of the student's association with his fellow students and with the school are covered. A partial list of specific areas includes respect for the property of other students and the School, use of the library, adherence to regulations of the School and the University, and course work.

Examinations in the School of Law are not proctored. Each student takes his examinations on his honor.

Infractions of the Honor System are dealt with by the Discipline Committees of the Student Bar Association and the faculty.

* In February 1968, the Student Bar Association adopted a proposed formal Honor Code, which was submitted to the faculty for approval. The Code was pending before the faculty as this bulletin was published.

TUITION AND FEES

Tuition. The tuition fee is $700 for each of the two semesters of the academic year and $350 for the summer session. Part-time students in the Evening Division are charged a tuition fee of $480 for each semester and $250 for the summer session. Undergraduate students taking less than the minimum course load are charged $80 for each semester-hour. Part-time graduate students must pay a tuition fee of $85 for each semester-hour. Tuition and other charges are subject to change at the beginning of any semester.

All students are entitled to use of the School of Law and University libraries, health services provided by the University,* admission to numerous University-sponsored lectures, programs and performances, participation in the activities of the Umphrey Lee Student Center, and services of the University's Placement Office and Psychological Services Center (including the Reading Service Division, the Speech and Hearing Clinic, and the Division of Testing, Counseling, and Guidance). Each law student also receives a copy of the School of Law Yearbook.

Full-time students are entitled to admission to all on-campus athletic contests involving University teams and admission to home football games played in the Cotton Bowl. Each full-time student also receives a copy of the Rotunda, the University yearbook.

Auditor's Fee. Members of the State Bar of Texas or graduates of approved law schools who have been permitted to enroll as auditors in courses in the undergraduate curriculum are charged a fee of $40 for each semester-hour. The fee is payable at registration and is not refundable.

Admission Deposit. Each applicant accepted for admission to the first-year class is required to deposit $35 with the Admissions Secretary of the School of Law within four weeks of the date of his acceptance. This deposit is applied against the tuition fee for the first semester. The deposit is forfeited if the student fails to enroll.

* The University provides a limited health service. All students living in the University dormitories or enrolled for regular work in the University are entitled to the following health services: an unlimited number of consultations with the University physicians during office hours at their Health Center offices, conferences and treatments by the nurses at such other times as may be designated by the physicians. Blood counts, urinalysis, physiotherapy, special laboratory tests and all X-rays are made with minimal charge. Prescriptions are filled in the Health Center Pharmacy. All new students will receive free tuberculin test and X-ray of chest when test is positive. These privileges are extended to all ambulatory students irrespective of residence. Students living in University dormitories and taking all meals in University dining halls are also entitled to hospitalization in the Health Center with nurse and doctor in charge. A charge of $5.00 per day will be made. For students not taking meals in University dining halls and not living in dormitories, a charge of $7.50 per day will be made for each day of hospitalization.

Transcript Fee. Transcripts are issued only by the University Registrar's Office. The first transcript requested is provided without charge; for each additional transcript there is a fee of $1. Transcripts cannot be released unless a student has satisfied all of his financial obligations to the University.

Graduate Thesis or Dissertation Fee. A fee of $12 is charged each candidate for the LL.M. or S.J.D. degrees to cover the cost of binding three copies of the candidate's thesis or dissertation.

Payment of Accounts. Tuition, room, and board charges for each semester or summer session are due and payable at the time of registration.

Upon his failure to make payment substantially in full within 10 days after registration, a student will be dropped from the University unless satisfactory arrangements have been approved by the University Cashier. A check returned dishonored is not a valid reason for late payment. Information concerning loans through The Tuition Plan, Inc., or Education Funds, Inc., may be obtained from the Cashier.

The fee for late registration is $15. There is a late payment charge of $5 plus 6% interest when a payment is made after the tenth day following registration. A fee of $2 is charged for adding or dropping a course. A charge of $1 will be made for each check dishonored by the bank. There is an annual fee of $10 for each student desiring to park his automobile on campus.

Refunds. If a student should register in the School of Law and for a good reason be unable to attend classes, all of his tuition except $35 ($50 for new students) will be refunded. If a student registers and attends classes, but leaves the University within three weeks after the first day of registration for a semester or summer session, one-half of his tuition may be refunded. Refunds are allowed only upon honorable dismissal by the Dean of the School of Law and must be applied for at the date of withdrawal. After the third week no refunds are allowed.

As a special exception, if a student is drafted during a semester, he will be eligible for a full tuition refund unless he is eligible for academic credit. "Drafted" includes both voluntary and involuntary induction, and involuntary reserve mobilization. Students who wish to take advantage of this exception must make written application to the Dean.

HOUSING AND MEALS

Lawyers Inn, located in the School of Law quadrangle, provides residence accommodations for seventy-five unmarried male law students. The room rental rate for a semester is $225 for each person in a double room. A few single rooms are available at a semester rental of $250. Rooms are engaged for the entire academic year, which consists of two semesters. Residents who wish to remain in their rooms between fall and spring semesters may do so by making special arrangements with the Director. An additional rental will be charged.

The rooms are comfortably furnished and linens are provided. Application for residence must be made on a form supplied by the Director of Lawyers Inn and must be accompanied by a deposit of $50. Approval of application may not be given until the applicant is accepted for admission to the School of Law. Application forms are sent automatically to all students accepted for admission.

Limited on-campus facilities are available for married students and single women. Information concerning these facilities may be obtained by writing the Office of Special Services of the University. A number of University-owned apartments are located near the School of Law. Information about them may be obtained from the Business Manager of the University.

Meals are served Monday through noon Saturday in the Lawyers Inn Dining Room. The privilege of using the Dining Room is available to all students and to their guests. Those using the Dining Room (except first-year students living in the Inn) may pay for each meal separately or may contract at the time of registration for breakfasts, lunches, or dinners for a full semester.

All first-year students living in Lawyers Inn are required to take their meals in the Inn's Dining Room. The cost of meals for one semester is $270 plus 3% state and city sales tax, payable at the time of registration.

Rates for rooms and meals are subject to change at the beginning of any semester.

FINANCIAL AID

STUDENTS BEGINNING THE FIRST YEAR OF LAW STUDY

Scholarship grants are made each year to highly qualified graduates from colleges and universities in all parts of the nation. Entering students with exceptional qualifications may be granted assistance covering tuition, room, and board. Full tuition scholarships are awarded each year to graduates of accredited colleges who have made excellent scholastic records. Partial tuition awards in varying amounts are also made each year to college graduates with good scholastic records who demonstrate need.

Application for scholarship awards should be made to the Chairman of the Committee on Student Financial Assistance on a form which may be obtained from the Secretary of Admissions.

All scholarship awards are made for one year. Recipients must re-apply each year for further awards or grants.

STUDENTS WITH ADVANCED STANDING

A substantial number of financial assistance awards are made annually to upperclassmen. Some awards equal full tuition; others cover a substantial portion of tuition. The number and amount of awards depend upon the funds available, and the amount of assistance that may be awarded to a given student depends upon his academic record in the School of Law, financial need, and participation in School activities.

Normally no more than half of an award is a grant. The remainder is a loan that carries a nominal interest rate and is repayable in installments following graduation. To insure that the School's financial aid program will continue to grow, each recipient is asked to accept a moral obligation to repay the grant portion of his award when he becomes financially able to do so.

All awards are made for one academic year. Recipients must re-apply each year for further assistance. Awards are not automatically renewed, and renewal awards may be increased or decreased upon consideration of the student's academic record, need, and activities.

Information about application procedures may be obtained from the Office of the Dean.

The following firms and individuals have contributed $1,000 or more for financial assistance to one or more students during the 1968-1969 academic year:

M. D. Anderson Foundation

Atwell, Grayson, and Atwell

John T. Sharpe

Henry W. Strasburger (for the Allen Hunter Strasburger Memorial Scholarship)

Max Wolens and Joseph B. Wolens (for the Kalman Wolens Memorial Scholarship)

Texas Association of Defense Counsel

Eldon R. Vaughan

The following Endowed Scholarships are awarded each year:

Dallas Lawyers Wives Club Scholarships

W. R. Harris, Sr., Memorial Scholarship

Erin Bain Jones Scholarship

John Leddy Jones Memorial Scholarship

(Mrs. Erin Bain Jones has contributed substantial additional funds during the year to increase the endowment of the Jones Scholarships)

Funds to be used toward the endowment of scholarships have been contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Rosser J. Coke, The Dallas Lawyers Wives' Club, Mr. Hawkins Golden, Mrs. J. Roscoe Golden, the late Mrs. Annie Morris Anderson, Mrs. Erin Bain Jones, W. R. Harris, Jr., and Joseph W. McKnight.

LOANS

All students in good standing at the School of Law, including entering students, are eligible for loans under several loan programs. Loan programs are administered by the University Office of Special Services.

Each application is judged on an individual basis. Some of the factors considered are the student's income, assets, expenses, and the purpose for which the loan is requested. Additional information may be obtained by writing to the Director, Office of Special Services, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222.

SCHOLARLY PUBLICATIONS

Two student-edited law reviews are published by the School of Law. The operation and management of each is vested in its Board of Editors composed of senior students. Second-year students, originally selected on the basis of scholarship, become candidates for the boards if they have exhibited a high capacity for legal research and writing. A substantial portion of each journal is devoted to material prepared and edited by student writers and editors. In both publications, the work of the students, coupled with the guidance and assistance of the law faculty, has produced periodicals of permanent value to the legal profession. Law journal training is widely recognized as an invaluable complement to formal legal education.

The Southwestern Law Journal, a legal periodical published by the School of Law since 1947, appears five times per year. Although the title of the publication indicates its geographical location, its scope embraces significant phases of local, national, and international law. The Journal reaches judges, law schools, and attorneys throughout the United States and abroad. Each issue contains articles by prominent scholars and attorneys and analyses by student writers of recent cases, statutes, and developments in the law.

The Journal of Air Law and Commerce, a quarterly publication founded in 1930, is also published at the School of Law. The only scholarly periodical in the English language devoted primarily to the legal and economic problems of aviation and space, the Journal has a world-wide circulation, with subscribers located throughout the United States and 50 foreign countries. Each issue contains articles dealing with the many complex problems of the rapidly expanding airline industry, domestic and international. Among the contributors are distinguished lawyers, economists, government officials, and scholars in diverse fields of intellectual activity. Complemented by special sections dealing with topical issues of a diverse nature, student comments, case notes, and recent decisions, book reviews, and editorial comment, the Journal constitutes a vital forum for the discussion and analysis of contemporary issues affecting aviation and the law of outer space.

---

The Applied Legal Training Program is conducted each summer. Regular students finishing their second year of law work may enroll. The student is compensated by the employer to whom he is assigned. Assignments are made to legal offices (firms, corporations, and government) for twelve weeks. Some assignments are divided between legal offices and district or county courts.

The Order of the Coif, a national law school scholastic honor society, was established at SMU in 1967. Not more than ten per cent of each graduating class may be elected to membership by vote of the faculty. From 1935 to 1966, The Order of the Wool-sack was the School of Law's honor society and had the same standards for election as The Order of the Coif.

The SMU Student Bar Association, composed of all students in the school, has as its general purpose the promotion of the interests of the student body. The Association conducts forums at which leaders in public and professional life discuss topics of current interest, and it also sponsors social functions each semester.

The Legal Clinic and Training in Professional Responsibility. In cooperation with the Dallas Legal Aid Society and the Dallas Council of Social Agencies, the School operates a Legal Clinic under the supervision of a Director who is a member of the faculty. For this work the School maintains a suite of student offices and provides secretarial assistance. The Clinic serves the whole of Dallas County and cases from out of the county come by referral from other legal aid clinics and societies. Selected students are appointed to assist court-appointed attorneys in defending criminal cases. Students also advise prisoners in the state and federal penitentiaries by mail. Students interview clients, prepare papers, and work as assistants to attorneys of record when cases reach the litigation stage. In some civil cases the judge allows the students to assist in presenting the case in court. This work is open to second- and third-year students.

With the assistance of a matching grant from the National Council on Legal Clinics, administering a Ford Foundation fund, the School of Law placed in operation in September 1964 a practical and far-sighted program in Training in Professional Responsibility. Under this program, the Legal Clinic was expanded in an effort to serve more indigent persons in depressed areas who cannot afford legal counsel. The program carries with it an increased effort to develop in the student an appreciation of the interrelation of other disciplines and law, as well as a coordination of the existing instruction in legal ethics, practice court, and applied legal training. This Training in Professional Responsibility is consonant with the School's aim of producing not only professionally competent but also professionally responsible attorneys prepared to assume the role of the lawyer in modern society.

The Barristers, a general service organization of fifteen law students elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, achievement, and personality, has as its purpose to undertake various projects for the benefit of law students and the School.

The Advocates is an organization composed of all students residing in Lawyers Inn. It holds dinner meetings to which prominent lawyers and judges are invited for addresses on interesting legal topics. It also maintains an active interest in the social welfare of all residents.

The Moot Court Board, a student organization, administers a continuing program to create interest in and aid in the instruction of oral and written advocacy. The Board participates in the selection of Moot Court teams representing SMU and administers the Russell M. Baker Moot Court Competition held each spring for first-year students. Students who enter the Competition are given personal instruction by upperclass students in oral and written advocacy at the appellate level.

The Regional Moot Court Competition is held each November. Law schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and New Mexico are eligible to compete. Prominent lawyers and judges serve as judges in the preliminary and final rounds. The three representatives of this School are chosen in a series of Moot Court arguments held in October. This competition is a part of the National Moot Court Competition sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. The winners of the Regional Competition go to the finals in New York City.

The State Junior Bar Moot Court Competition, held each June as a part of the annual convention of the State Bar of Texas, is an appellate moot court competition between the laws school of Texas. The question always deals with a moot point of Texas law. The school represented by the winners receives an engraved plaque from the sponsors, The State Junior Bar of Texas. The three SMU representatives are chosen in a series of moot court arguments held in April and May.

Legal Fraternities. Chapters of three national legal fraternities have been established at the School—the John Hemphill Senate of Delta Theta Phi, the Roger Brooke Taney Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, and Monteith Inn of Phi Delta Phi. Alpha Psi Chapter of the Kappa Beta Pi International Legal Sorority is active for the benefit of women students.

School of Law

Section II: The Undergraduate Program

1968-69

THE UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

PRE-LEGAL STUDIES

The School of Law does not prescribe a fixed course of pre-legal study, but does examine the records of each applicant for admission to determine whether the undergraduate courses taken reflect adequate preparation for the study of law. So far as the student is free to elect courses, he should seek a well-rounded program, incorporating in it to the greatest extent practicable the following subjects: English, History, Mathematics, Literature, Economics, Philosophy, Political Science, and Accounting. Particular attention should be devoted to the development of facility and style in use of the English language.

ADMISSION

Dates of Admission. Beginning students are admitted in the fall semester only. Entering students are no longer accepted in the Evening Division.

**Application for Admission.* Application for admission should be made well in advance of the date of intended enrollment. Application must be on forms supplied by the School of Law. The application must be supported by transcripts from all colleges attended by the applicant and by college questionnaires and letters of recommendation on forms supplied by the School of Law. A person filing an application while still enrolled in his undergraduate studies should file transcripts showing the work completed to date and the courses in which he is enrolled at the date of application.

Each new full-time student of the University must present written evidence of a recent physical examination by his personal physician. Registration of the new student is not complete until the physical examination form provided by the University has been filed with the Director of the Health Center.

All full-time students must have been vaccinated against small-pox within the last five years. Students are encouraged to have up-to-date inoculations against tetanus, polio, and influenza.

Application Fee. A fee of $15 must accompany each application for admission. The application fee is not refundable, but will be credited against tuition if the applicant is admitted and registers.

* An applicant who has been accepted, and has paid his $35 admission deposit, but who is drafted prior to beginning law study, will be allowed to enroll without reapplication in the fall semester following the termination of his military service, unless there has been a detrimental change in his personal record. It will only be necessary for the student to submit a new matriculation form and a statement of his activities from the time of his initial application to the time of his expected enrollment.

Law School Admission Test. Candidates for admission to the first-year class must take the Law School Admission Test administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Application blanks with complete details about the test may be obtained by writing to the School of Law.

Candidates are urged to take the test on the November or February testing dates preceding the fall semester in which they seek admission.

Admission by Selection. Admission to the School of Law is by selection based upon the academic record of the applicant and other available data. The school reserves the right to reject any applicant without statement of reason.

Credit Requirements. An applicant must have been granted a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

Admission Fee. Students accepted for admission are required to deposit $35 with the School of Law within four weeks of date of acceptance. This fee is credited toward tuition charged upon enrollment. It will be forfeited if the student fails to enroll.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Persons Eligible. A student who has completed successfully a part of the law course in another law school which was at the time of his study a member of the Association of American Law Schools, or approved by the Section on Legal Education of the American Bar Association, may apply for admission with advanced standing. The student must also have met the admission requirements of this law school at the time he began the study of law. Students who have been excluded from or are on probation at another law school are ineligible.

Dates of Admission. Transfer students who have completed two or more terms of work in another law school may be admitted in the summer session or in either semester of the long session. An applicant who has completed only one term elsewhere should submit a list of law courses taken and inquire concerning possible dates of admission.

Application. Application for admission with advanced standing must be made on forms supplied by the School of Law. It must be supported by transcripts from all colleges and law schools previously attended. Good standing in the law school last attended must be established by a letter from the dean of that school.

Advanced Credit. Advanced credit for work completed in another law school will be determined by the Admissions Committee. Advanced credit will not be granted for a course completed in another law school with a grade below C or its equivalent.

Minimum Residence Requirement. A student admitted with advanced standing may not qualify for a degree from the School of Law until he completes satisfactorily at least two semesters' study in the Day Division or three semesters' study in the Evening Division.

AUDITORS

Members of the State Bar of Texas or graduates of approved law schools may be enrolled as auditors in courses in the undergraduate curriculum. Auditors are not admitted to graduate courses. Auditors take no examinations and receive no credit for work taken. Full-time students in the University may audit with the approval of the instructor, subject to conditions he may impose.

REGISTRATION

Registration Periods. Students who fail to register during the announced registration period must secure permission of the Dean to register late. A late registration fee of $15 will be charged, without exception, of all students who register late.

Minimum and Maximum Hours.

	DAY DIVISION		EVENING DIVISION
	Long Term	Summer	Long Term	Summer
Minimum*	10	5	6	3
Maximum	15	8	10†	5

Adding, Dropping, and Withdrawing. A student must give written notification to the Office of the Dean whenever he adds, drops, or withdraws from a course.

In those cases in which the student adds or drops a course, notification shall be on a form provided by the University Cashier's Office. A fee of $2 is charged for each course the student adds or drops. Periods during which a student may add or drop courses are set out in the calendar on page 8.

Notification of withdrawal from a course must be given on a form supplied by the Dean's Office. A student may, with the consent of the Dean and his instructor, withdraw without penalty from a course at any time prior to noon on the last day of classes in a semester or summer session. A notation of withdrawal (W) will be entered for the course. A student shall not be entitled to a refund of tuition if he withdraws from a course.

* Unless a smaller number will meet residence and graduation requirements.

† 12 with consent of the Dean for good cause.

** With consent of the Dean, Legal Aid (1 semester-hour) may be taken in addition.

CLASSROOM WORK AND ATTENDANCE

Classroom Work. The instructor may, with the consent of the Dean, exclude a student from a course for poor classroom work or for improper conduct in the classroom. In such case the student will receive a failing grade (WF) in the course.

Attendance. Regularity in attendance at classes and diligence in the discharge of all duties are required. Attendance records may be kept by instructors; their decisions control in the matter of penalties for unsatisfactory attendance records.

Absences from Quizzes. A student who fails to take a previously announced quiz may not continue the course unless excused by the Dean for good cause shown in writing (in advance if possible). If a student is excused from a quiz his grade in the course will be determined as though the quiz had not been scheduled.

Absences from Examinations. A student unable to take a final examination at the time scheduled, because of illness or other unavoidable cause, must as early as possible (in advance if practicable) notify the Dean in writing of such absence and the reason for it. The Dean, in conference with the instructor, will pass upon the reason and notify the student of his decision. If the reason be found sufficient, the student may take the examination with the class when it is next given. The Dean will authorize a special examination at a time to be fixed by the instructor only under exceptional circumstances. If the reason is found to be insufficient, the student will receive a failing grade (WF) in the course.

GRADES AND CREDITS

The minimum passing grade is 60. The final grade in a course is based upon written examinations and other written work. No final examination paper or other work will be regraded. A student who fails to pass a required subject may repeat the course but is not required to do so except when failure is due to dropping or being excluded from the course.

Method of Computing Averages. The grade in each course will be weighed in proportion to the semester-hours credit assigned to the course. In computing the average there will be included the marks from all courses in which the student has taken the final examination or received a final grade, regardless of whether credit in a particular course is required to meet the minimum requirements for graduation. When a course is repeated, both grades will be entered in computing the overall average. When the student receives a grade of WF, it will be entered as a grade of 40 in computing the average.

RESIDENCE

Day Division: A candidate for graduation must have been in residence for not less than six semesters (six semesters and one summer session for students entering prior to September 1964). To gain residence in the Day Division, the candidate must have been registered in that Division for not less than ten semester-hours in a semester or five semester-hours in a summer session, and must have passed not less than nine semester-hours in the semester or five semester-hours in the summer session.

Evening Division: A candidate for graduation must have been in residence for not less than eight semesters (or eight semesters and two summer sessions for students entering prior to September 1964). To gain residence in the Evening Division, the candidate must have been registered for and passed not less than six semester-hours in the semester or three semester-hours in the summer session.

General: If a student is registered for but fails to pass the minimum number of hours required for residence, he will be granted fractional residence credit in proportion to the amount of work passed. Residence cannot be earned by repeating a course if residence was earned when the course was first taken.

WITHDRAWAL AND READMISSION

Withdrawal. A student may voluntarily withdraw from the School of Law before the date of his first examination. In this event, no credit will be given for work in any class, and a notation of withdrawal (W) will be entered on the student's record.

Readmission of Former Students. Students who have withdrawn from the School of Law while in good standing will be readmitted subject to the following limitations.

Students who withdrew before completing their first semester of law study may apply for readmission in the fall semester only. Students who completed one semester may apply for readmission at the beginning of the spring semester only. Students who completed two or more semesters may apply for readmission at the beginning of either semester or a summer session.

Students who apply for readmission within the following periods will be readmitted without reexamination of their entrance credentials: Those who withdrew before earning twelve semester-hours credit, within twelve calendar months from the date of withdrawal; those who withdrew after earning twelve or more semester-hours credit, within twenty-four calendar months from the date of withdrawal. In computing these periods there will not be included any period or periods in which the student was on active duty with any of the armed services of the United States, or any period in which the student was licensed and engaged in the practice of law in this or another state. Students who apply for readmission after the expiration of the periods stated will be required to comply with the requirements for admission and graduation in effect at the date of readmission.

ACADEMIC FAILURE AND PROBATION

In this section, "semester" does not include the summer session; "upperclassman" means one who has completed two semesters or two semesters and a summer session with an overall average of 70 or more. For the method of computing grade averages, see page 35.

First-Year Students:

1. Any first-year student whose overall average at the end of the first semester is less than 60 shall be excluded.

2. Any first-year student whose overall average at the end of the first two semesters is less than 68 shall be excluded.

3. Any first-year student whose overall average at the end of the first two semesters is between 68 and 70 shall be on probation. Any such probationary student must in his third semester either raise his overall average to 70 or more or obtain a semester average of at least 72. Otherwise, he shall be excluded. A student who raises his overall average to 70 or more shall be removed from probationary status. A student who fails to raise his overall average to at least 70, but who obtains an average of 72 or more in his third semester, shall become an upperclassman on probation.

Transfer Students:

A student admitted with advanced standing upon transfer from another law school shall be subject to the same scholastic requirements as a student who has successfully completed his first year at this School.

Upperclassmen:

1. Any upperclassman whose overall average at any time falls below 68 shall be excluded.

2. Any upperclassman whose overall average at any time is between 68 and 70 shall be on probation.

3. Any upperclassman who begins a semester on probation and whose average for that semester is less than 70 shall be excluded.

Readmission:

Any student who is excluded for poor scholarship may petition the faculty for permission to re-enter the school. Such permission may be granted upon whatever terms and conditions the faculty in its discretion wishes to set, if the faculty feels that the petition has merit.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

All candidates for the degree of Juris Doctor must satisfy all the following requirements:

1. Residence: The residence requirements set out on page 36. The last two semesters of Day Division residence must be earned in this school. The last three semesters of Evening Division residence must be earned in this school.

2. Hours and Grades: Ninety semester-hours credit with an over-all grade average of not less than 70.

3. Courses:

(a) All required courses set out on pages 42 and 43. (An Evening Division student who expects to graduate in May 1969 or earlier should have his degree plan approved if it does not meet the requirements of this bulletin).

(1) Students who entered the School of Law in fall semester 1965 must take those courses required in the third year, plus the courses required of first year students as of fall semester 1965.

(2) Students who entered the School of Law in fall semester 1966 must take the courses required in the second and third years, plus all courses required of first year students as of fall semester 1966.

(b) At least one course involving International and Comparative Law or Jurisprudence. Such courses are designated "ICLJ" in the course descriptions on pages 42-51, 62-66, and 69.

(c) At least one planning course.

(d) At least one seminar, other than a planning course, in which a substantial paper is required. Satisfactory completion of both semesters of the Journal of Air Law and Commerce or Southwestern Law Journal Editorial Seminars is a satisfactory substitute.*

(e) As an alternative to the requirements of (b) through (d) above, students who entered the School of Law in fall semester 1965 or earlier may elect to meet graduation requirements by satisfying the requirements set forth in paragraphs 3(b), 3(c), 3(d), and 3(e), page 22 of the 1966-1967 School of Law Bulletin.

4. Time Limit: A candidate may offer toward the fulfillment of the requirements only those courses completed by him in this or another approved law school within (a) the six calendar years preceding the intended date of graduation if he has been enrolled in the Day Division or another full-time law school, or (b) eight calendar years if he has been enrolled in the Evening Division or another part-time law school. In computing the period, there shall not be included any time during which the candidate was on active duty with any U.S. armed service or was licensed and engaged in the active practice of law in any state.

Except for the limitation under rules regarding readmission of former students, a student must meet the Residence and Hours and Grades requirements (1 and 2 above) in effect at the time he enters. He will not be affected by subsequent changes in these requirements. Other requirements may be changed from time to time with such applicability as the faculty determines.

HONORS

Candidates for the J.D. degree having the highest average grades, not to exceed ten per cent of the graduating class, may by vote of the faculty be awarded the degree cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude. No one shall be eligible for honors who shall have taken elsewhere more than one-third of the work offered for the degree. The average grade shall be based on work done in this school only; but to receive the degree with honors a transfer from another law school must have at least a B average in law courses at the school previously attended. Normally, the minimum averages for honors are: cum laude—85; magna cum laude—88; summa cum laude—90.

SCHEDULE OF COURSES 1968-1969

For the year 1968-1969 the faculty proposes to offer the courses on pages 40-41. The number opposite each course indicates the number of semester-hours of credit. Every effort will be made to adhere to this program, but intervening circumstances may require minor changes. Persons interested in particular courses should inquire about them shortly before the beginning of the semester or session for which they are announced.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

The unit of credit is the semester-hour, which represents one class-hour per week for a semester. The number of semester-hours of credit given for the satisfactory completion of each course is stated. Notations following the course descriptions have these meanings: ICLJ—meets requirement for a course in International and Comparative Law or Jurisprudence; Paper normally required—indicates course which, with the instructor's approval, meets the requirement for a seminar with a substantial paper. Graduate course descriptions appear at pages 62-66. This is a complete list of courses open to undergraduates; see pages 40-41 for those currently offered. Others will be offered in the future.

REQUIRED COURSES

Commercial Code. Four hours. Study of Uniform Commercial Code with special emphasis on sections relating to sales, negotiable instruments, and secured transactions. Sales: passing of title, risk of loss, warranties, remedies of buyer and seller, secured transactions. Negotiable instruments: form, negotiation, holders in due course, personal and real defenses, banking procedures of collecting and remitting, dishonor, discharge; bills of lading and warehouse receipts; suretyship problems.

Constitutional Law I and II. Five hours. A study of the constitutional powers and limitations of federal, state, and local governments in the light of the Constitution of the United States. Emphasis is placed upon the principle of judicial review; the federal commerce power and its limitation upon state economic regulation; the fiscal and proprietary powers of the Federal Government, its war, treaty, and other powers; inter-governmental relations; rights, privileges, and immunities under the Constitution, particularly the meaning and application of due process of law, limitations on imposition of criminal liability, freedom of expression and religion, and the equal protection of the laws.

Contracts I and II. Six hours. History and development of the common law of contract; principles controlling the formation, performance, and termination of contracts, including the basic doctrines of offer and acceptance, consideration, conditions, material breach, damages, contracts for the benefit of third persons, assignments, and the Statute of Frauds.

Crimes. Two hours. Origins and sources of the criminal law; the elements of crime and the various specific crimes, including homicide, assault, rape, larceny, robbery, and arson.

Criminal Procedure. Two hours. Criminal procedure under the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, including jurisdiction, venue, preliminary examination, grand jury, indictment, information, pleas, trial, sentence, probation, and parole; rights of a criminal defendant under the United States and Texas Constitutions.

Ethics Lectures. One hour. Material relating to the "rights" and "responsibilities" of admission to the bar, review of Canons of Ethics and interpretative opinions, consideration of particular problems arising out of relationship of the lawyer to his client, opposing counsel and the court. Problems in Professional Responsibility or Ethics and Law Seminar may be substituted by the student in satisfaction of the Ethics Lectures requirement.

Evidence. Four hours. The rules of evidence on trials at common law in the Federal Courts and in Texas, including examination, competency and privileges of witnesses; leading rules and principles of exclusion and selection, including the hearsay rule and opinion rule; problems of remoteness and undue prejudice; judicial notice; burden of proof and presumptions; functions of judge and jury.

Income Taxation. Three hours. An introduction to the federal income tax system; analysis of sections of the Internal Revenue Code, Treasury Regulations, rulings, and case law; development of concepts of income, deductions, capital gains.

Introduction to Procedure I and II. Six hours. Civil procedure, primarily on the trial level; forms of action; single form of action; distinction between law and equity; merger of law and equity; modern civil action of today under modified common law and equity, under the codes and under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, including jurisdiction of courts, venue, process, pleading, pre-trial practice, right to a jury trial, withdrawing cases from a jury, motions after verdict, judgments, and their enforcement.

Legal Writing. One hour. Study of legal style, legal draftsmanship and actual drafting of memoranda and opinions on assigned points of law.

Property I and II. Six hours. Selected topics in personal property law; possessory and non-possessory estates in fee, for life and for term, and their respective incidents; concurrent ownership; future interests; landlord and tenant; covenants running with land; easements; licenses; water rights.

Torts I and II. Six hours. Civil wrongs arising from breach of duties imposed by law as distinguished from duties created by contract; including trespass to person and property, negligence, misrepresentation, defamation, and nuisance; right of privacy; fault and strict liability.

Use of Law Books. One hour. Group program covering use of law library, form of citation of authorities, and research techniques.

Wills and Trusts. Three hours. A basic course in the law governing trusts and the testate and intestate devolution of property. Subjects covered include interstate succession; formalities of inter vivos and testamentary transfers; creation of trusts; construction of donative instruments; and policy considerations in the disposition of wealth.

ELECTIVE COURSES

Abstracts. One hour. Nature of an abstract of title; contracts to furnish an abstract; ownership of abstract; liability of abstracter; examination of abstracts.

Administrative Agency Practice. Two hours. See page 62 for course description.

Administrative Law. Three hours. The nature of the administrative process—formal and informal; separation of powers and the legislative delegation of rulemaking and adjudicatory discretion; the basic powers and actions of a representative federal agency and a representative state agency, with comparison of the interlocking requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act and the Model State Administrative Procedure Act; the power to investigate and the right to be represented by counsel; necessity for notice and hearings; the examiner, the separation of functions, decision making by the agency; limitations on the exercise of agency rulemaking and adjudicatory power; the right to, methods, timing and scope of, judicial review of administrative action.

Principles governing the making and construction of insurance contracts; types of insurance organizations; government supervision and control; interests protected by insurance contracts; selection and control of risks; study of standard form of insurance policies and the construction and application of Texas statutes.

Inter-American Regional Law. Two hours. See page 64 for course description.

International Law. Three hours. The nature of the international legal system; territory; nationality; jurisdiction; claims; international agreements; force and war. (ICLJ)

International Organizations Law. Three hours. See Page 64 for course description.

Journal of Air Law and Commerce. Maximum credit, three hours. Preparation of comments on topics of current interests, notes on cases of significance, and editorial work incident to publication of Journal of Air Law and Commerce.

Journal of Air Law and Commerce Editorial Seminar. One hour. A forum for joint faculty and student discussion of current Journal research projects, offered as a seminar to integrate Journal work with the instructional program of the School of Law. Limited to editors of the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, and to students of the Institute of Aerospace Law.

Labor Law. Three hours. Federal law governing labor-management relations. Includes a study of the rights and duties of unions and employers, the forms of concerted activity, such as strikes, picketing and boycotts, the negotiation and enforcement of collective bargaining agreements, and problems of jurisdiction and accommodation arising under various state and federal laws affecting labor relations.

Labor Problems Seminar. Two hours. Seminar designed for students having a special interest in labor law. Examples of topics studied are: impact of antitrust law on labor relations; duty of fair representation; relation of federal labor statutes to the common law of torts; constitutional aspects of certain forms of concerted activity; recent developments in the duty to bargain; the evolving law of the "hot cargo" agreement; accommodation of NLRB and Title VII of Civil Rights Act; public employees and union representation; settlement of emergency disputes; NLRB remedial orders; changing institutional nature of labor unions; intra-union relations.

Land Use Planning. Two hours. Evolution of legal theory from nuisance doctrines to recognition of the comprehensive plan as an element of local land use control; components of the comprehensive plan, and methods for its enforcement—particularly zoning, subdivision regulation, street mapping, set back ordinances; administration of zoning and subdivision regulation—amendments of the zoning ordinance, spot zoning, special exceptions, special permits, floating zones, variances, accessory use, nonconforming use, due process requirements, the subdivision plat, declarations of restrictions, legality of administrative conditions; public acquisition of land—urban renewal, mass transportation, open space; the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

Law and Psychiatry. Two hours. A seminar taught jointly by members of legal and medical (psychiatric) faculties, inquiring broadly into criminal and civil law. The objective is to train lawyers to understand and use some of the insights of the behavioral sciences. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Law in Society I and II. Four hours. See page 65 for course description.

Legal Accounting. Two hours. An introduction to the theory and principles of accounting. Emphasis is placed on a legal analysis of such matters as determination of income, methods of allocating costs to different accounting periods, transactions involving debt and equity financing, concepts of corporate surplus, and techniques of consolidating corporate financial statements.

Legal Aid. Maximum credit, three hours. Representation of indigent clients in all types of cases, civil and criminal, with close faculty supervision. This includes interviewing, preparation of briefs and pleadings, and court appearances as well as attendance at lectures on the practical application of legal principles and the role of social agencies in relation thereto.

Legal History. Three hours. A study of basic legal concepts in historical perspective with particular reference to developments in the United States in general and Texas in particular. Particular emphasis is put on the development of the rules of contracts and torts to demonstrate the impact of historical trends upon modern substantive and adjective law. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Legal Problems of Outer Space Activities. Two hours. See page 69 for course description.

Legal Problems of the Urban Society. Two hours. A study of the law in action in the contemporary urban community, of the social impact of the law, and of the role of the legal process as an instrument of social ordering and social control; identifying emerging community-legal problems, defining the pertinence of law to the problems, and exploring possible legal solutions.

Medico-Legal Problems. Two hours. A study of the relation of law and medicine, including the considerations involved when members of the legal and medical professions must cooperate in the solution of a problem. Subjects covered include: medical diagnosis and case management; an anatomy of trauma; preparation and trial of cases involving medical testimony and hospital records; and damages. Lectures by medical and legal experts.

Moot Court. One hour. Introduction to the art of persuasion by written and oral legal arguments; course culminates in annual moot court competition.

Municipal Corporations. Two hours. Legislative control over municipal corporations including constitutional limitation on legislative powers, home rule provisions, federal-local licensing and contractual relationships; general municipal powers and the police power; municipal expenditures and public purpose limitations; municipal contracts including agreements with labor organizations; municipal bonds, property, taxes, special assessments; municipal liability in tort.

Oil and Gas. Three hours. Extent of title in oil and gas; correlative rights and duties of owners in a common reservoir; governmental regulation; remedies against trespassers; analysis of instruments conveying mineral interests, including both deeds and leases; partition; pooling and unitization.

Patent Law. Two hours. Legislative provisions, patentability, prior art, Patent Office practice, validity, infringement, licensing and relations with respect to copyright and trademark.

Practice Court I and II. Two hours. Preparation and trial of cases. Students are divided into groups of two, one representing the plaintiff, the other representing the defendant, and specific cases are assigned each group. Fall semester—investigation of the case, preparation of the pleading, interlocutory hearings on motions and demurrers, and drafting proper orders, pre-trial proceedings and selection of the jury. Spring semester—trial on merits, examination of witnesses, preparation of instructions and special issues, motions incident to judgment, motions for new trial, perfection of appeals.

Problems in Professional Responsibility. Two hours. (Alternative to Ethics Lectures.) Intensive study of ethical considerations in day-to-day law practice, examined through problems posing questions about conscience and the application of the Canons of Professional Ethics.

Problems of Doing Business Abroad. Three hours. See page 65 for course description.

Property Security. Two hours. The real property mortgage including rights and duties before and after foreclosure, priorities, transfer of interests of mortgagor and mortgagee, subrogation, marshalling, discharge, and redemption.

Regulated Industries Seminar. Two hours. An examination of those sectors of the economy that are comprehensively regulated by governmental authority. The pertinent legal and economic questions are considered and their resolution within the framework of the administrative process is explored. Attention is focused on such selected industries as transportation, communication, agriculture, banking, and public power.

Regulation of Business. Three hours. A study of government regulation of business; control over monopoly and other devices for restraining competition by the federal antitrust acts, their interpretation and application; control by the courts, legislatures and the Federal Trade Commission over unfair methods of competition; problems of rate-regulated public utilities.

Roman Law. Two hours. The principles of substantive Roman law with an emphasis on the law of persons, property, and obligations. The treatment is comparative. Intensive study is devoted to the law of sale using the texts of the Digest and comparing principles developed with those of traditional Anglo-American common law, modern continental and Latin American systems, and the Uniform Commercial Code. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Science, Technology, and Law. Two hours. A study of the development by courts and legislators of rules to meet the impact of scientific and technological innovations, and of how diverse societies are organized to meet new problems through law. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Securities Regulation. Two hours. See page 65 for course description.

Southwestern Law Journal. Maximum credit, three hours. Preparation of comments on topics of current interest, notes on cases of significance, and editorial work incident to publication of the Southwestern Law Journal.

Southwestern Law Journal Editorial Seminar. One hour. A forum for joint faculty and student discussion of current Journal research projects, offered as a seminar to integrate Journal work with the instructional program of the School of Law. Limited to editors of the Southwestern Law Journal.

Tax Procedure and Litigation. Two hours. See page 65 for course description.

Taxation and Fiscal Policy. Two hours. See page 65 for course description.

Taxation of Business Entities. Two hours. See page 66 for course description.

Taxation of Deferred Compensation Plans. Two hours. See page 66 for course description.

Texas Land Titles. Two hours. Contracts for sale of land; forms of deeds; descriptions; warranty and other covenants of title; escrows; recording statutes; practice in drafting; acquisition of title to land through adverse possession.

Texas Matrimonial Property. Two hours. The Texas law of separate and community property and family property exempt from creditor's claims.

Texas Practice. Three hours. A critical examination of these areas of Texas procedure: jurisdiction over the subject matter and the person; venue and plea of privilege; pleading; special issue submission; doctrine of direct and collateral attacks on judgments; appellate jurisdiction and procedure.

Workmen's Compensation. One hour. A comprehensive study of the Texas Workmen's Compensation Act and the court decisions interpreting the various provisions of the act.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OF AMERICAN AND FOREIGN LAW

The Graduate School of American and Foreign Law, in offering programs of advanced study beyond the first degree in law, is designed to broaden the student's understanding of the Anglo-American legal system and its place in the world and to offer opportunity for study to those interested in international and foreign legal problems. To achieve its objectives, the School offers opportunities for study and research in the following areas:

1. Advanced study in Anglo-American jurisprudence.
2. An intensive course of study in international and foreign legal problems for United States lawyers.
3. One-year courses of specialized legal training in international law, comparative law, and basic principles of Anglo-American law for lawyers from foreign countries.

GENERAL GRADUATE STUDIES

Objectives. This program offers lawyers previously trained in Anglo-American law an opportunity for more productive careers in the private practice of law, in teaching, and in the public service. The program is designed to: (1) afford intensive training on the graduate level in the fields of law which have become highly specialized in modern urban practice, especially in the Southwest; (2) increase the student's understanding of the philosophy and history of law and of the administration of justice; (3) encourage research and creative writing in the law and related fields; and (4) offer specialized instruction to practicing lawyers as a part of the plan for continuing education of the Bar. A student in this program will seek the Master of Laws (LL.M.) or Doctor of the Science of Law (S.J.D.) degree.

Historical Background. The School of Law inaugurated the program of graduate legal studies in 1959. This program is designed to meet the need for continuing development in the law caused by the changes and stresses of the modern era. Initially, the offerings were limited, with specialized curricula in areas of interest to southwestern lawyers, such as oil and gas, taxation, and corporate problems. Additions to the program were gradually made. In 1963, a program leading to the doctoral degree in law (S.J.D.) was added to the master of laws (LL.M.) program. The doctoral degree is sought primarily by those in the academic field and by persons who seek extended research in specialized areas of the law. Admission to the S.J.D. program is severely limited.

THE LAW INSTITUTE OF THE AMERICAS

Objectives. The Law Institute of the Americas is designed to improve understanding among the peoples of the Americas through study of the law, institutions, and governments of the American nations and to train lawyers to handle Western Hemisphere legal problems.

THE CIVIL-LAW CURRICULUM*

This program is designed for North American common law trained lawyers who seek to acquire a competence in representing individuals and firms engaged in foreign operations, or who wish to work with governmental agencies operating abroad or with foreign clients. Upon satisfactory completion of a year of study in the civil law system, primarily of Latin America, and in comparative law, supplemented by course offerings in specialized fields of International Law and Latin American Public Law, the student receives the Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.) degree. Knowledge of the Spanish language is recommended, but is not required.

An additional period of graduate study in Latin America is available to students who have successfully completed the one-year program described above and have demonstrated an exceptional capacity for advanced study in the civil law. Under arrangements with selected Latin American universities, students may pursue a course of study which, if successfully completed, will lead to a doctorate in civil law. Eligibility for participation in the programs in Latin America requires proficiency in the Spanish language.

The courses of instruction for 1968-1969 are listed on page 61.

THE COMMON-LAW CURRICULUM

This program is designed to offer Latin American lawyers, trained in the civil law, an opportunity to acquire a knowledge of the legal systems and political and legal institutions of the United States. The program includes a study of international legal problems, with particular emphasis on those relating to the Western Hemisphere. Successful completion of studies leads to the degree of Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.).

The courses of instruction for 1968-1969 are listed on page 61.

Historical Background. The Law Institute of the Americas was established as a graduate division of the School of Law in 1952 as a pragmatic experiment in international legal education. The organizers recognized that lawyers are generally among the leading

---

* Students interested in this program should make inquiry of the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies, as the program and curriculum are subject to change.

arbiters of policies, both national and international, and believed that inter-cultural exchange would increase the sense of total hemispheric responsibility among future decision makers. The program of the Law Institute of the Americas was designed to teach civil-law lawyers of Latin America the fundamental approaches, thought patterns, theories, and terminology of Anglo-American common law. At the same time, the Law Institute undertook to teach common-law lawyers of Canada and the United States the fundamental approaches, thought patterns, theories, and terminology of Latin American civil law. Both groups were combined in comparative courses of constitutional and commercial law and in courses dealing with the international law of the Americas, known as inter-American regional law.

The first class arrived in 1952 and, working with the faculty, helped iron out the program's weak points, strengthen its strong points, and demonstrate that an inter-American graduate program could function smoothly and beneficially. Foreign students in this and following groups used the opportunity to learn about the United States and to create in Texas a deeper interest in their own nations. Enduring friendships and professional relationships were established.

The work of the Law Institute of the Americas has had wide effect in Latin American legal education and in government. Former students have experimented in their own countries with United States legal teaching methods, including student discussions, the case method of study, practice court courses, and the like. A number of Latin American graduates have entered their countries' foreign service, and have served in the United Nations and the Organization of American States. They have held important government positions in ministries and the courts, and have aided in drafting modern legislation.

Many of the U.S. and Canadian graduates have entered into practice with firms representing investors in Latin American businesses, have been employed by corporations with Latin American interests, or have been employed by Latin American law firms. There have been more than 175 graduates of the Law Institute of the Americas. Almost all are directly utilizing the training and education derived from the Law Institute. This group has published more than sixty scholarly articles and a number of books dealing with commercial law, comparative law, constitutional law, and inter-American regional law.

THE ACADEMY OF AMERICAN LAW

Objectives. The Academy of American Law provides a comprehensive program of study in the theory and practice of American political and legal institutions and the American legal system to lawyers from outside the Western Hemisphere who have not received training in Anglo-American law.

The courses of instruction for 1968-1969 are listed on page 61.

Historical Background. The success of the Law Institute of the Americas led to the establishment of the Academy of American Law. The students are lawyers from outside the Western Hemisphere who are not trained in Anglo-American common law. They are introduced to the basic processes and instructions of American law. Stress has also been placed on the evolution of constitutional principles essential to the development of human freedom and upon international law and the establishment of an orderly framework for international relations.

Lawyer-students in this program have come from the Far and Middle East and from Europe. Like the Latin Americans, they have benefitted from increased knowledge and from living in the United States and learning of its multifaceted society. Students from Canada, the United States, and Latin America have learned to appreciate the scholarship and ability of the lawyers from outside the Hemisphere. A beneficial side-effect has been the introduction of non-American students, most for the first time, to Latin Americans and to Latin American legal institutions.

The Academy's former students have utilized their knowledge effectively and profitably for themselves and their countries. In the Far East, a number of former Academy students have taken seats on the courts of their homelands. Several have become legal educators. Others have held public office or have practiced law, often representing United States and other foreign clients.

DEGREES

Master of Laws (LL.M.). To receive the degree of Master of Laws the student must meet the following requirements:

(1) Residence in the School of Law for not less than two semesters if a full-time student, and not less than four semesters if a part-time student.

(2) Completion of a sufficient number of graduate courses to make a total of at least sixteen semester-hours excluding courses with a grade below 70. The student must have an average grade of 80 on all courses taken. Undergraduate courses in the student's field of specialization may be taken if approved by the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies.

(3) Completion of at least four semester-hours in the field of the general theory of law. These courses are counted toward the sixteen-hour requirement.

With prior approval, the student may take not more than four hours of his required work in the Graduate School of Humanities and Sciences or in Perkins School of Theology. In particular, a student will benefit from courses in economics and theology in which there is considerable jurisprudential content.

(4) Preparation of a dissertation, written under the direction of a professor. This dissertation must be approved by both the professor and the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies. After approval by the professor under whose direction the dissertation is written, it must reach the Committee in quadruplicate at least 60 days before the date on which the candidate seeks to receive his degree. It is recommended that the dissertation be in a form suitable for publication. The dissertation must comply with the instructions published by the Committee; instructions are available from the Committee.

(5) All requirements must be completed within three years from the date of initial registration as a graduate student, unless the candidate is continuously enrolled as a part-time student, in which case all requirements must be completed within five years.

Since one of the primary aims of the graduate program is to foster research and encourage creative writing, it is contemplated that the formal course work will require approximately two-thirds of the student's time and that the other one-third will be devoted to the dissertation. Therefore, candidates for degrees will not be permitted to register for more than four two-hour courses in one semester if full-time and not more than two two-hour courses if part-time.

Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.). The requirements for this degree include the completion of twenty-four hours of credit from the courses set out below in the programs of the Law Institute of the Americas or the Academy of American Law or from other courses selected after consultation with the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies. The degree is awarded to those students who complete the course work with an average grade of 75, and no grade below 70.

Doctor of the Science of Law (S.J.D.). Persons who have completed the requirements for the Master of Laws degree or the Master of Comparative Law degree with distinction, or who have engaged in law teaching or the practice of law for five years and demonstrated legal scholarship by writings of high merit, may be admitted to candidacy for the S.J.D. degree. A candidate for the doctoral degree will ordinarily be in residence for one year and enroll in at least four semester-hours of courses (two hours in legal philosophy and two hours in comparative legal theory or international law). These requirements may be waived by the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies when the candidate has completed work at the master's level in this institution. The candidate must, within five years after completion of the residence requirement for the S.J.D.

degree, satisfactorily complete a thesis in publishable form and pass an oral examination on his thesis topic and related subjects.

ADMISSION

STUDENTS WHO ARE CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

The S.J.D. degree and the LL.M. degree require extensive previous training in the common law system. Applicants for admission to candidacy for these degrees must normally have obtained an undergraduate law degree from an approved school of Anglo-American law. Applicants for the M.C.L. degree (Civil-Law Program) must also have received a degree from an approved school of Anglo-American law. Moreover, each applicant must hold a college degree from an accredited college or university, although the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies may in its discretion waive the requirement if the applicant graduated from law school before September 1952. The applicant must have a superior undergraduate law school record.

The foreign applicant for the M.C.L. degree (Common-Law Program) must be a graduate of a foreign law school of standing comparable to those approved by the Section of Legal Education of the American Bar Association. His undergraduate law record must demonstrate superior scholarly aptitude and he must be proficient in the English language.

STUDENTS WHO ARE NOT CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

A limited number of members of the bar who do not seek advanced degrees may be admitted to graduate seminar courses as special students. Auditors are not permitted, as all students must participate in the work of the course, prepare assignments, and take examinations.

APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

Application for admission to General Graduate Studies should be made to the Secretary, Committee on Graduate Legal Studies, School of Law, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222, U.S.A. Application forms will be mailed upon request. An applicant must include with his application a letter stating the purpose for which he wishes to do graduate work. Completed applications should be received by August 1 in the case of United States applicants, by July 1 for all others.

Application for admission to the Law Institute of the Americas by Latin American students should be made to the Institute of International Education through the Committee for Study and Training in the United States in the candidate's country in September or October of the year preceding that of intended enrollment.

The address of the Committee can be obtained from the Cultural Affairs Officer at the United States Embassy or from the nearest U.S. consular office. Application may also be made directly to the Secretary, Committee on Graduate Legal Studies, School of Law, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222, U.S.A. Application forms will be sent upon request. Applications shall include the age of applicant; a short curriculum vitae; statement of proficiency in English; a certified transcript of grades received in law school, in English; letters of recommendation from the Dean of the law school and from a law professor; and a recent head-and-shoulders photograph of the applicant. Applications for each term beginning in September may be filed at any time before April 1.

Application for admission to the Law Institute of the Americas by North American students and to the Academy of American Law should be made to the Secretary, Committee on Graduate Legal Studies, School of Law, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222, U.S.A. Application forms will be mailed upon request. An applicant must include with his application a letter stating the purpose for which he wishes to do graduate work.

FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowships providing tuition, fees, room, and board, are available each year to a limited number of highly qualified students of the Law Institute of the Americas and of the Academy of American Law. Certain tuition grants are also available to candidates who present superior scholastic records.

Attention of foreign applicants is directed to the fact that the Graduate School of American and Foreign Law has no funds to grant for travel expenses, either to or from the United States or within the United States, nor does it have any administrative influence through which government or private agencies can be persuaded to assist in travel.

SCHEDULE OF COURSES

* Courses listed here may be taken for undergraduate credit with the permission of the instructor by undergraduate students with superior grade averages who have completed the first- and second-year required courses.

** Undergraduate law courses may be taken with the approval of the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

The unit of credit is the semester-hour, which represents one class-hour per week for a semester. The number of semester-hours of credit given for the satisfactory completion of each course is stated. Notations following the course descriptions are for the information of undergraduate students and have these meanings: ICLJ—meets requirement for a course in International and Comparative Law or Jurisprudence; Paper normally required—indicates course which, with instructor's approval, meets the requirement for a seminar with a substantial paper. Graduate courses available to undergraduate students are listed on pages 44-52.

Administrative Agency Practice. Two hours. Problems encountered by the practitioner in presenting his case before an administrative agency, with special attention to: illustrative agency proceedings involving adjudication, rulemaking and investigation, including the pre-hearing conference, the testimonial and written case, comparison of the examiner's initial decision and the agency's final decision; rules of practice and procedure of representative federal, state and local agencies; government contracts; evaluation of standards for judicial review of administrative action—the substantial evidence rule, the clearly erroneous rule, trial de novo; need for legislative reform—appraisal of the Administrative Procedure Act, the Administrative Conference of the United States, the Model State Administrative Procedure Act (Paper normally required)

Air Law I. Three hours. See page 44 for course description.

Air Law II. Two hours. See page 44 for course description.

American Constitutions. Two hours. Problems of constitutionalism in the American nations. Particular emphasis will be placed upon such fields as the separation of powers, federalism, and certain substantive civil economic and social rights. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Commercial Law I. (Common-Law Curriculum). Three hours. Discussion of detailed problems of the Anglo-American law of contracts, agency, and the law of sales.

Commercial Law II. (Common-Law Curriculum). Three hours. Chattel mortgages, trust receipts, factor's liens, other liens, bills and notes, partnerships, and compositions.

Common Market Law. Two hours. A comparative study of the international agreements establishing the European Economic Community, the Latin American Free Trade Association, and the Central American Common Market. Study will be made of the customs and trade area established or attempted to be established by the three communities, the development of common economic policies, and the institutions established to carry out the functions. (ICLJ)

Comparative Civil Procedure. Two hours. An examination of the principal institutions and concepts in Civil Procedure in the major procedural systems. Some of the topics to be discussed are jurisdiction of courts, venue, methods of pleading or bringing the facts to the attention of the adverse party and the court (the concept of "pleading" does not exist in civil law countries), role of the judge in conducting the trial, devices for simplifying the normal course of a lawsuit, review of judgments by trial and appellate courts, execution of judgments, and non-adversary procedures. Individual research and group discussion will be encouraged. (ICLJ)

Comparative Criminal Justice. Two hours. Introduction to and discussion of the nature of the criminal process in the civil law, with emphasis on the law of France. Comparative studies of criminal justice in the civil law system with that of the United States with the objective of gaining perspective on the American system and attempting to find more workable analogues to some of the present criminal procedures in the United States. Examples of specific problems that might be explored include the feasibility of transforming the Federal Commissioner into the equivalent of the civil law system's investigating magistrate and allowing full pre-trial discovery as in the civil law system. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Comparative Law I. Two hours. Sources of private law, code interpretation and classification, general theory of juridical acts in civil law jurisdictions. Major structure of the law of obligations, property, personal and real, the land registry, the family and inheritance as well as of civil law actions and remedies. Concentrates principally but not exclusively on a selected civil law jurisdiction. (ICLJ)

Comparative Law II. Two hours. Commercial law of civil law jurisdictions, its application to transactions, and to problems of drafting and counseling in commercial contracts. Includes study of civil law business associations and negotiable instruments. Concentrates principally but not exclusively on a selected civil law jurisdiction. (ICLJ)

Comparative Private International Law. Two hours. A comparative analysis of the most important concepts of international conflict of laws and their application in the courts of the U.S., England, France, Germany, some Latin American countries, and the Socialist countries. After a series of lectures, it is planned to assign the most important topics such as jurisdiction, enforcement of foreign judgments, and the choice-of-law rules for contracts, torts, property, wills and estates, and family law for seminar-type discussions. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Corporate Finance. Two hours. Capital structure and corporate indebtedness, dividends, repurchase and redemption of issued shares, and organizational changes (charter amendments, merger, consolidation, and sale of assets); related problems of state and federal regulation.

Corporate Reorganization. Two hours. Solvent reorganizations under federal and state law. Special attention will be given to the tax and corporate laws aspects of solvent corporate reorganizations including mergers, acquisitions, and recapitalizations. Students will draft instruments and supporting memoranda in solving various problems relating to corporate reorganizations. Prerequisites: Business Associations I and II and Income Taxation. (ICLJ; Paper normally required)

Federal Oil and Gas Taxation. Two hours. Tax problems of the petroleum industry; the leasing transaction, farm-outs and sharing arrangements; drilling and development costs; operations. Techniques used in sales and exchanges, depletion and intangibles, development and operations, finances and sharing arrangements, transfers of oil properties, unitization and other organizational matters.

Government, Labor, and Business. Three hours. Organization and procedure of federal and state administrative agencies; delegations of powers, the nature of the power vested in administrative agencies, requirements of due process, judicial control over administrative action. Association of employees and the legality and illegality of labor objectives; forms of concerted activities such as strikes, picketing, primary and secondary boycotts; legal aspects of collective bargaining. Legal adjustments of the conflict of interests caused by the rise of large scale business associations with emphasis upon control of monopoly and restraints of competition by antitrust acts and control over unfair methods of competition.

Inter-American Regional Law. Two hours. International legal principles of the American States, with particular emphasis upon the Charter of the Organization of American States, the Inter-American Treaty of Reciprocal Assistance, the American Treaty on Pacific Settlement; a study of juridical-political problems of the Americas. (ICLJ)

International Law. Three hours. See page 47 for course description.

International Organizations Law. Three hours. The United Nations: structure; powers and functions of its organs; international status; maintenance of peace and security; nation building. (ICLJ)

Land Use Planning. Two hours. See page 48 for course description.

Law in Society I. Two hours. A study of the historical development of doctrines concerning the nature and purpose of law; origins of the legal ethic of the American society; the relationships of law, morality, and religion. (ICLJ)

Law in Society II. Two hours. Contemporary thought concerning the concept, functions, and limits of law; legal institutions and modern society; legal positivism and Anglo-American legal theory. (ICLJ)

Problems of Doing Business Abroad. Three hours. An intensive study of the practical legal and tax problems encountered by individuals and corporations doing business abroad under national and international law. Attention will be paid to the problems of the petroleum industry such as the ownership of minerals, open and closed countries as to oil and gas and the obtaining of concessions. The course also contains a survey of Western Hemisphere tax systems with emphasis on taxes imposed and entities taxable; analysis of reciprocal tax conventions in force between U.S. and other countries; treatment of business abroad under U.S. and foreign tax statutes. (ICLJ)

Roman Law. Two hours. See page 51 for course description.

Securities Regulation. Two hours. Federal and state (particularly Texas) regulation of the issuance and sale of corporate securities; anti-fraud provisions, broker-dealer registration, securities registration, administration and enforcement, civil liability and rescission, exemptions, financial reporting, insider trading, and proxy regulation. (Paper normally required)

Tax Procedure and Litigation. Two hours. Preparation and trial of tax cases in the Federal Courts; representation of a taxpayer before the Internal Revenue Service; administrative powers and procedures of the Internal Revenue Service; criminal violations of the Internal Revenue Code; accumulations of supporting evidence for a tax plan.

Taxation and Fiscal Policy. Two hours. The interaction between budgetary demands and revenue policy; equity and fairness of taxation; effect of taxation on business activity; relationship between federal and state taxing systems; social, political, and economic implications of the tax structure.

Taxation of Business Entities. Two hours. Tax problems incident to the organization, operation, reorganization, termination, and sale of business entities including partnerships, corporations, and other forms of business organizations; and the related tax problems of the owners of such enterprises. Prerequisite: Income Taxation, Business Taxation.

Taxation of Deferred Compensation Plans. Two hours. Survey of tax law relating to various kinds of deferred compensation plans, including profit sharing, stock bonus, and pension plans; qualified and non-qualified stock options; deferred compensation contracts.

United States Constitutional Structure. Three hours. The doctrine of separation of powers, the organization, the functioning and powers of the three branches of the federal government; problems of federalism and the relationship between federal and state governments.

THE INSTITUTE OF AEROSPACE LAW

---

The Institute of Aerospace Law was founded in March 1967. It is designed to offer a threefold training in the developing fields of air law, transport law, and the law governing outer space activities, and to meet the need of government, industry, and international organizations for lawyers so trained. Participants engage in a program which includes courses and lectures, special research assignments, and a working relationship with the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, a legal quarterly of world-wide circulation published at the School of Law. A student in this program will normally seek the Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree. Qualified mature students may be admitted to the School of Law's S.J.D. program. Students whose first degree in law was not obtained from an Anglo-American law school may arrange a program leading to the Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.). Graduate degree programs are described beginning on page 54.

APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

Application for admission to the Institute of Aerospace Law should be made to the Director, Institute of Aerospace Law, School of Law, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222.
